High Frequency Words

Going, over,
open, must

We are adding a new component into our home work this week, fluency passages. The students are expected to read them nightly. They are working on increasing their fluency and comprehension of the story. We will also be practicing these passages in the classroom. At the end of the week the students will be tested on their fluency and comprehension of their passage.

Our weekly words this week are a review of the last five weeks. They include short "a", "i", "o" words and "r" and "s" blends. Continue to work on them with your students at home.

In reading we will focus on story elements. The students will understand who the main character in a story is and why they are the main character.

In math, we will finish up our lessons on addition strategies and beginning our lessons on time. The students will learn about the hour hand and minute hand on an analog clock and will begin to read a digital clock.
